Farmville & Powhatan Railroad Sold.

Messrs. Henry R. Miller, William M. Haddison and their associates Wednesday afternoon bought the Farmville and Powhatan railroad for $125,000 at the auction sale in Richmond.

John Skelton Williams, who arrived on the scene after the bids had reached as high as $100,000, made several bids, his best offer being $120,000.

The property was disposed of at the commissioners' sale, which had been continued from Wednesday, May 3. The sale must be confirmed by the court.

Default having been made in the payment of the amount sufficient to pay off the loans on the property the sale was ordered by the court.

The terms of the sale were $75,000.00 cash, $25,000.00 of which shall be paid to the commissioners within three days from the day of sale, and the residue of $50,000.00 when the sale is confirmed.

The balance to be on credits of six and twelve months from the day of sale; the purchaser to execute negotiable notes for the deferred payments, with interest from day of sale, with the right to anticipate the payment of said notes; and the title to be retained until the whole purchase money is paid and a conveyance directed by the court.

While the road only extends from Bermuda Hundred to Farmville, its charter gives the owners the power to construct, maintain and operate extensions and branch roads, not exceeding fifty miles each in length from the main line of the railroad, including the Brightstone railroad, which has been purchased by it, or from any point or points thereon. A portion of the charter reads as follows: "After the completion of its main line to Farmville the said company shall have authority at any time to construct, maintain and operate an extension of its main line from its terminus in the town of Farmville, through this State to any point on the boundary lines of the States of Kentucky and Tennessee."

The road now extends about eighty-eight miles. It runs through Chester and several enterprising towns. It is a narrow gauge road and was chartered in 1884.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed it causes a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Did ever a like number of girls get together and remain together during a nine months' session as was true of the past session of our Normal with so little sickness among them? And yet during the session some nervous folks got scared and talked of a scourge. Courage is as much needed in times of peace as in times of war.

Rev. Theodore Osborne, of Australia, is on a visit to his old-time friend, Capt. S. W. Paulett. Mr. Osborne is a son of the late Rev. Michael Osborne, who some years before the war was the pastor of the Farmville Presbyterian church. It has been more than fifty years since he was in Farmville and it is needless to say that he recognizes but a small part of our growing little city.

At a suggestion of a member of the body the session of the Presbyterian church agreed to dispense with the morning services at that church on next Sunday so that the members of the congregation may be free to attend upon its services at Hampden-Sidney, where the baccalaureate sermon will be preached at 11 a. m. by Rev. Dr. Campbell, of Roanoke.

Mr. Benno Droste, son of vice-consul Droste at Richmond, from Australia, was taken violently ill in the auditorium at the Normal school Saturday night with heart trouble.

It required speedy and heroic treatment from physicians to revive the young man. He was taken into the residence of Mr. B. M. Cox, and his parents telegraphed for him. He was able to get out yesterday and expects to return to Richmond today.

Through Mrs. A. H. Voorhees, U. S. Special rates have been made to delegates as follows: From $1.50 to $2.00 per day, European plan.

The commencement days in Farmville have been very beautiful ones. An intelligent visitor remarked to us that the rambling roses, lilies and their companion flowers were surpassingly lovely. And then our shade trees have been doing noble service, while the yards have been dotted with richest green. Beautiful Farmville, the home of fair women and chivalrous men, the seat of culture, of social refinement of educational uplift and of religious blessings.

Normal School Commencement.

The session of 1904-1905 of the State Female Normal School came to a close this week under very beautiful and favorable circumstances. The class of June 1905 is to be specially congratulated from the fact that it was the first to graduate in the new Auditorium. Special effort was put forth to make the commencement exercises a success in every particular and those who have witnessed the closing scenes will attest the eminent success attained.

On Saturday, June 3, was given the class play entitled "The Oxford Affair," a charming presentation of romance, comedy, interesting situations and developments in which the various characters were portrayed with considerable dramatic talent. It was a successful and delightful entertainment.

The baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Paxton, of Lynchburg, on Sunday night was a forceful and thoughtful discourse on the subject of intellectual humility. The text was taken from Matthew 13:51. Dr. Paxton occupies a prominent position as a deep thinker, and his sermon truly gave an intellectual and spiritual uplift to those who heard him. At the close of the sermon Dr. Paxton addressed a few remarks to the graduating class to whom he expressed in a beautiful and impressive way, the need for intellectual humility; that humility which would lead them to feel that, while there is little in this world which humanity really understands, it is a blessing and a privilege to be not ashamed of their lack of understanding for it brings them close to the God who understands all things.

On Monday night a charming reception was held in honor of the graduating class in the reception hall. The latter was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns, flowers and potted plants and the effect, coupled with the beauty of the dome above, the coloring and harmony of arrangement, rendered the occasion one of exquisite pleasure to the assembled guests. The class exercises were held on Tuesday night in the Auditorium and were refreshingly original in their entirety. Special mention should be made of the excellent Class History by Miss Elizabeth Richardson and the Prophecy by Miss Lucy Manson, also the Will by Miss Lucy Brooke. It is also fitting to commend the Class songs written by various members of the class.

At the close of the Class Will, Miss Edith Dickey, in the name of the class of June 1905, presented the school with a beautiful plaster cast of the "Winged Victory of Samothrace" upon a handsome pedestal. In the unavoidable absence of President Jarman, the gift was accepted by Mr. J. C. Matton in behalf of the school, with a few appropriate remarks touching upon the history and significance of the cast and also upon the loyalty and tender regard of the class as expressed in their handsome gift.

Wednesday morning the final exercises were held in the Auditorium, when Governor Montague delivered an unusually strong address before the graduating class after which President Jarman presented 37 young ladies with their diplomas. Mr. Jarman introduced Dr. James Nelson, who is the oldest member of the Board of Trustees in point of service and the Doctor presented the Governor to the audience.

Governor Montague made a thoughtful and able address. His complimentary allusions to the Normal and the great work it is doing met enthusiastic approval. The Governor's address covered the educational conditions in the State, and he dwelt especially on the part the Normal School was playing in that system. His remarks to the graduates as to the work they could do were deeply impressive.

The exercises were opened with a hymn: "Saviour, Teach Me Day by Day," followed with an Invocation by Rev. H. T. Graham.

One of the prettiest weddings which have occurred in Farmville, was that of Miss Elizabeth Robertson Martin, the daughter of Major and Mrs. Jno. R. Martin, to Dr. Charles Biedose Crute, celebrated Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. J. B. Winn officiating. The spacious parlors were beautifully decorated with palms, smilax and pink sweet peas.

Miss Robbie Blair Berkeley accompanied the services with the soft strains of "Rosary." Mr. W. B. Agnew acted as master of ceremonies. Messrs. Scott Martin and Vernon Paulett, the ushers, entered first, then the groom and his best man, Dr. Cranaday, of West Virginia, followed by the maid of honor, Miss May Paulett, daintily gowned in white liberty silk and carrying pink roses. The bride entered upon the arm of her father, by whom she was given away.

The bride wore an exquisite lace robe, a tulle veil caught with a diamond snuburst, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower of bride's roses.

An elegant reception followed the ceremony, after which Dr. and Mrs. Crute left on the midnight train for a tour North.

It seems a pity now that we have so many graduates, that "Modern Eloquence" is obsolete. May be you will buy my horse and buggy, no longer either will burn. The moral is, that you insure both with Paulett & Garland.

What to Read.

If you have the blues, read the twenty-seventh psalm.

If your pocket-book is empty, read the thirty-seventh psalm.

If people seem unkind, read the 15th chapter of John.

If you are losing confidence in men, read the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians.

If you are discouraged about your work, read the 126th psalm.

If you find the world growing small and yourself great, read the 49th psalm.

If you cannot have your own way in everything, keep silent and read the 3rd chapter of James.

If you are all out of sorts, read the 12th chapter of Hebrews.

Matrimony is highly recommended as a cure for infatuation.

As a rule dogs are better judges of men than men are of dogs.

Confederates Enjoy the Day.

Saturday, June 3rd, 1905, will be day memorable in the lives of a large number of Prince Edward's gallant Confederate soldiers.

It was the time set apart by the Farmville Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy for the presentation of crosses of honor, and the entertainment of the old soldiers. The exercises preliminary to the delivery of the crosses were of most interesting character. They were held in the Opera House before a large crowd. The old soldiers were seated on the stage, and about them were grouped a number of the Daughters of the Confederacy, making an unusual and impressive picture.

Judge Hundley, in fitting words introduced the speaker of the occasion, Major A. R. Venable, Jr. The speech of Major Venable was soul-stirring and inspiring. He eulogized his veteran comrades who were the gray and did not forget to pay beautiful and deserved tribute to the women of the Southland. Major Venable concluded with the introduction of Miss Mary Jackson, the accomplished daughter of Mr. W. W. Jackson, who gracefully presented the crosses. In doing this Miss Jackson said:

"We, the daughters of the Confederacy, feel it a duty, an honor and a privilege to meet you, the survivors of those who sustained the Confederacy, in order to bestow upon each of you an emblem of remembrance of your patriotic service in the past."

"The boy of fifteen who went into the Southern ranks, and became a matchless veteran is an old man today. The masses of those who made the Confederate Army a synonym for glory are patriarchy now."

"Looking at the matter after the manner of the world, it seems a mockery for such people to be indulging in memories. But, when memories are all of noble deeds, is not the light of past an excellent illumination for the future? Therefore, let the veterans of the South be as Confederate soldiers once more! That was the best period of your lives—fullest of self-sacrifice: of love of God, of country, and of each other. Guard your memories, oh Confederates! and go forth, souvenir, to help them do so."

The following received the honor badges:

R. E. Allen—Private Co. E, 3rd Va. Cavalry; shot at Hatcher's Run.

Thos. G. Adams—Private Co. B, 12 Regt. Va. Vol. Infantry; paroled at Appomattox.

N. S. Morton—Private Co. F, 18 Va. Regt.; surrendered at Appomattox.

Peter Davis—Private Co. K, 18 Regt. Va. Vol. Infantry; paroled April 1865.

W. L. Clarke—Private Co. C, 53 Va. Regt.; paroled at Appomattox April 9, 1865.

tation Heavy Artillery, Custis Lee's Division, paroled at Appomattox April 10, 1865.

A. R. Venable—Private Co. K, 3rd Va. Cavalry; transferred to Quarter Master Department, Captain Commission discharged by General Lee's surrender.

The presentation exercises were simple and impressive throughout. After they were over in the Opera House the veterans, of which there were two score or more, and the daughters grouped about the courthouse steps and had Hunt, the photographer, make a fine picture of them. The line was then formed and the procession marched to the Masonic temple where a bountiful dinner was spread in the banquet hall prepared by the daughters for the veterans and their ladies.

Year by year shows a thinning of the ranks of the old Confederates. In the gathering Saturday as on former occasions merited places of honor were occupied by veterans Paulett and Miller, who did all possible for the comfort and pleasure of their visiting comrades.

The Daughters of the Confederacy are doing much in teaching the younger generation to realize their enviable heritage in the history of the Confederacy.

There were not enough Crosses of Honor to go around Saturday and at a future presentation the following applicants will receive each one of the prized souvenirs:

E. A. Richardson—Entered service with the Reserves; transferred to Co. F, 18 Va. Regt. Infantry; taken prisoner at Sailor's Creek; released June 1865.

W. H. Richardson—Private Co. F, 18 Va. Vols.; discharged by Secretary of War to raise provisions for Confederate Army.

Thos. H. Rodgers—Private Co. L, 23 Va. Vols.; paroled at Appomattox April 9, 1865.

N. S. Morton—Private Co. F, 18 Va. Regt. Infantry; paroled at Appomattox April 9, 1865.

F. J. Penick—Private Co. K, 3rd Va. Cavalry; paroled at Appomattox April 9, 1865.

Jno. Ranson—Sergeant Va. Infantry; paroled at Appomattox April 9, 1865.

P. H. C. Rice—Private Co. D, 25 Va. Battalion; paroled April 12, 1865.

Base Ball Game.

The Crewe ball team met with an overwhelming defeat at the home of the local fans, the score being 24 to 3 in favor of Farmville.

Reynolds was invincible, allowing the visitors only 5 hits, while Farmville batted Crewe's pitcher, Keith, to the time of 4 two baggers, 2 three baggers and 19 singles.

The heavy hitting of the home team and the stellar work of the battery and infield were the features of the game.

Summary: 2 base hits—Scott, Hamlet, Armistead, Robinson. 3 base hits—Scott, Reynolds. Base balls—Reynolds, 2 Keith. 2 Struck out by Reynolds 1, by Keith 5.

Time of game, 1 hour 55 minutes; umpire Prof. Winston; attendance 300.

Willard Addresses Farmville Audience.

Lieutenant-Governor Willard paid his first visit to Farmville last Friday and that night addressed a large audience in the Opera House. He was fittingly and gracefully introduced by Mr. J. Taylor Thompson, and went immediately into a discussion of his principles and the issues involved in the present campaign. Mr. Willard made a profound impression on his audience, and we doubt not added votes to his list by his manly, business like utterances. We regret that space will not allow a review of Mr. Willard's strong address.

Bible Presented.

At the close of the Sunday school exercises at the Presbyterian church on last Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Graham, in happy and impressive manner presented to Mr. Russell, who until his removal to Richmond, had been the earnest and efficient superintendent of the school a student's Bible the gift of the officers, scholars and teachers of the school. And at the same time he presented to Miss Charles Jones, and Masters Watt, Willie and John Dunnington, each a copy of the Scripture for having recited perfectly the whole of the shorter Catechism at one sitting.

When you own two properties of any kind, insuring only one, it is always the other you should have insured. Should you insure neither, either will burn. The moral is, that you insure both with Paulett & Garland.

Has Stood the Test of 25 Years.

Hampden-Sidney.

Under the energetic and efficient direction of Mr. Whitting, who has been acting president, the session of Hampden-Sidney now closing has been in all respects the best for a decade past. True the number of students has not increased but there has been a thrill of new life permeating the very atmosphere of the place and that which was thought to be slowly dying has been expressing itself in awakened interest. Farmville of all places should rejoice in this and pledge herself in uniting not only to keep the thrill but to insure its certain increase of force and power. The present and pressing duty is to see to it that as many of her citizens as can possibly do so should attend the commencement exercises which begin with the baccalaureate sermon at 11 a. m. Sunday and continue thru the next three days of the week. No matter how attractive the programme as prepared may be, without the presence of large and inspiring audiences the exercises will not be a success.

Our young people should of course turn out in full force and why not our older? Keeping in touch of the young is veritable fountain of health and for this if for no other reason our busy men of affairs and our busy housewives should avail themselves of the sweet privilege of sitting with the boys for a few days at least in classic shades, listening to them, laughing with them and so catch new inspiration for the every day work of life. Your presence will cheer the boys and their sunny presence will cheer you. Don't forget to attend the Hampden-Sidney Commencement for 1905. 125 illustrious predecessors have gone before and your presence this time may help to faster for all time each and every successor to the same hallowed "Hill."
